Wallace & Gromit
THE WRONG TROUSERS
With Live Orchestra

In 2019, our iconic duo, Wallace & Gromit celebrated 30 years since they first appeared in A Grand Day Out.

Music plays such an important role in our productions, as many of our characters like Gromit don't speak at all, so what better way to enjoy the films than to sit back and listen to the film scores played by a live orchestra in all their glory..

As this format proves incredibly popular in the concert market, we have developed this wonderful new musical package which is available to license for any venue, orchestra or promoter looking for unique, family show content.

SCHOOL PACKAGES

Aardman and composer, Julian Nott are pleased to offer these fantastic film scores to schools and educational organisations to perform for free.

School shows took place in 2019 with UWE and West London Free School student orchestras, as well as a special performance as part of Bristol's BBC Music Day in partnership with Bristol Plays Music.

WALLACE'S CONCERTO IN EE, LAD!

Also available is a special, interactive half hour introduction to be performed ahead of one of these classic films, featuring bespoke Wallace & Gromit animation.

Watch and listen as the story unfolds whilst Wallace prepares to perform his masterpiece, 'My Concerto in Ee Lad' backstage, assisted by his trusty canine companion, Gromit. What could possibly go wrong?! Wallace communicates with the conductor via his magnificent invention, the 'Maestro-matic' podium – complete with messaging chute, health & safety barrier and cheese & crackers plates!

Children, parents and grandparents alike will enjoy being immersed in a selection of well-loved contemporary and classical music in an interactive concert experience suitable for the whole family. The perfect way to introduce children to the wonder of live music.

Launched at The Royal Albert Hall in July 2012 as their flagship family BBC Proms event, with a subsequent tour in Melbourne, Brighton Dome and the Hammersmith Apollo.

The show returned to the UK in May 2019 with Carrot Productions to kick off Wallace & Gromit's 30th anniversary year, touring 18 UK venues and including a VIP premiere at the National Film & Television School to celebrate where Wallace & Gromit were 'born'!

The show embarks on an international tour in 2021, with shows in Australia, Japan and on to Taiwan, New Zealand and beyond in 2022!

Wallace & Gromit's pal, Shaun the Sheep joins the show from 2021, featuring all his best moments since he first appeared in A Close Shave.

Carrot Productions are our preferred UK and international production partner for this interactive concert experience, with a wealth of experience in producing and managing touring orchestral concert events.

Carrot Productions have a tiered selection of hire options for the In Concert packages available to choose from, depending on your budget, resources and personnel requirements.

These range from full, touring production including resident orchestra (dressed as their favourite Wallace & Gromit character!) to full remote support from the UK for a local venue and orchestra internationally to host the performance in-house.

MODEL MAKING WORKSHOPS

These fun, hands-on clay modelling sessions are run by our team of expert model makers from the Aardman studio and are the perfect addition to these live concert events.

Participants get the chance to get creative with clay and discover how to make their own Gromit model, which they then get to take home with them. They also have the opportunity to ask the model maker any questions they have about our titles and our production processes. Recommended for age 6+.

The cost for a day of workshops is £750 + VAT

- This includes up to 3 x 1hr sessions
- We can accommodate a maximum of 60 participants per session

Additional costs:

- Workshop materials
- Travel expenses for the model maker

Due to the pandemic, many schools in 2021 are looking for alternatives to their usual trips and activities, and are keen to celebrate the end of a difficult year for children and teachers alike. Carrot Productions have adapted to this and created a streamable, online package called Schooltime Showtime.

Schooltime Showtime offers a streamable version of Wallace & Gromit: In Concert, with bonus material – including exclusive model making and animation instructional video content and numerous lesson ideas and resources. It offers a unique package for both primary and secondary schools.
